LEADERSHIP HACKS

Getting your "stuff" together

At High Performance Leaders our mission is to develop leader skills and habits to achieve high performance cultures. An important part of this is to help leaders develop themselves in order to excel in their careers and find a better balance between work and personal life.

YOU'LL LEARN:

Techniques for effective personal planning

Methods to stay organized & in control

How to focus on your priorities

How to escape death by email

Finding better balance

Reducing Vacation stress

Do you feel you spend more of your valuable time fighting fires rather than preventing them? Do daily interruptions take you off your priorities and pull you into reactive mode far too often? Does your inbox run your life?

This seminar is specifically designed to give you many years of knowledge and experience without having to spend your career figuring them all out for yourself! That's why in this 2.5-hour LIVE VIRTUAL seminar, you will learn over 50 proven and practical tips that successful and effective leaders use every day. And you can put these tips to use immediately!

Glenn will show you, on this 2.5-hour LIVE VIRTUAL seminar, the many aspects of his personal planning routine and techniques that he has learned and perfected over his career as an executive leader. He will also provide time to ask your questions LIVE during the seminar. As part of registration, you will receive a soft copy of his planning tool and leader standardized work templates.

There are a limited number of people who can join each of the scheduled sessions, so if you want in, register now!
